Beastie Boys	Some Old Bullshit	UMG	LP	Some Old Bullshit is a compilation album by the Beastie Boys released in 1994. It compiles several of their early EPs, recorded in the early 1980s. These recordings present a sound radically different from that of the hip-hop sound generally associated with the band. Instead, these songs represent the band's part in the early New York hardcore scene. The album also features taped segments originally heard on Noise the Show, a popular hardcore radio show on WNYU in New York that played early recordings from the Beastie Boys. These segments feature the hyperbolic introductions of Noise the Show's host, Tim Sommer, an early supporter of the band. Release is currently not available on Vinyl.
Bill Evans	Live At Ronnie Scott's	Resonance Records	2LP	Live at Ronnie Scott's is the third official Resonance release of previously-unissued recordings of the Bill Evans trio with Eddie Gomez and Jack DeJohnette, and the fifth release with the Evans Estate. The recordings that comprise this release come from the personal archives of drummer Jack DeJohnette, who has had them in storage for over 50 years, and the nearly 2 hours of music has been remastered from the original tape reels.

Fountains of Wayne	Welcome Interstate Managers (Limited 2-LP Natural with Black Swirl Vinyl Edition) (Record Store Day/Black Friday Exclusive)	Real Gone Music	2-LP	It's the most popular album by one of the greatest power pop bands of all time...and it's never been on vinyl. Welcome Interstate Managers was hailed a classic from the day it came out in 2003, and featured the band's biggest hit with "Stacy's Mom." The song craft and lyrical wit of Chris Collingwood and the late, great Adam Schlesinger have never been sharper; there's not a bad song on this record and lot of them (e.g. "Bright Future in Sales;" "Hackensack") rise to the same lofty perch as "Stacy's Mom." Real Gone Music presents this landmark album in a 2-LP set inside a gatefold jacket with two printed inner sleeves featuring lyrics, with a natural with black swirl pressing limited to 3000 copies that beautifully matches the monochromatic cover. Also included as a bonus track: the non-LP b-side to the "Stacy's Mom" single, "Elevator Up!"

Sharon Jones & The Dap-Kings	Just Dropped In (To See What Condition My Rendition Was In)	Daptone Records	LP	TRANSPARENT BLUE VINYL WITH BLACK SPLATTER. Throughout their career, Sharon Jones & the Dap-Kings remained in high demand both publicly and privately to recreate and often re-imagine songs by other artists. More often than not, these covers were recorded by request ' commissioned for placement in movies, television programs, tribute albums, or for samples. This album compiles some of their most popular as well as never-before-heard renditions. Though the band has mostly built their career on a prolific catalog of originals, these forays into other artists' compositions lay bare their gift for arrangement and the unmatched studio prowess that earned them their reputation as The Baddest Band in the Land.
Sonikku	Sweat SOPHIE Remix 12"	Bella Union	12"	Sonikku singe 'SWEAT' is remixed by pop icon SOPHIE on this very special 12" single... SOPHIE distorts SONIKKU's latest single 'Sweat' into an alien euro-dance affair inspired by sweaty escapades at the infamous Berlin club, Berghain. "When SOPHIE and I met, we played each other our favourite disco music, and I think we view pop music in a very similar way," SONIKKU, aka London-based producer Tony Donson, explains. "A mutual friend played 'Sweat' to her, and she connected with it instantly. To collaborate with an artist whose music I admire feels unreal, I could listen to 'Nothing More To Say' (by SOPHIE) on repeat endlessly. I feel the same hypersonic energy of that track was brought to the 'Sweat' remix." PRESSED ON CLEAR VINYL and housed in PVC bag.
