October release highlights from LP Records, Glasgow

October is always a mad month for music, acts are touring and big records are releasing and this month is no different. There are several albums we've been anticipating for AGES that are finally seeing the light of day. I've been desperate for a follow up from Weaves since their debut record last year and catching them live, they've turned around and made a whole nother full length and the singles are HUGE. The legendary Wolf Parade return with Cry Cry Cry and Ducktails release Jersey Devil at the start of the month. I'm expecting big things from one of my favourite bands Destroyer as they return with Ken, another band you have to catch live. Courtney Barnett & Kurt Vile release their much hyped collab, Lotta Sea Lice and the incredible St Vincent has already dropped 2 of the best singles of the year and as always will deliver an AOTY contender in MASSEDUCTION. For us at LP, there's one release that takes precedent this month. We opened the shop the day Julien Baker dropped Sprained Ankle on Bandcamp in 2015 and fell in love with it, we went out our way to stock it and tell everyone and anyone about it before she's deservedly taken off this year. She's our biggest seller and someone we're incredibly grateful to as a shop, her second record Turn Out The Lights comes at the end of the month and you HAVE to pick it up and please do endeavor to catch her play live, a truly special talent.

Get to know LP Records...

"I was studying Marketing at Strathclyde University here in Glasgow. I hated it, but I wanted to work in music and it seemed the most transferrable degree for that that wouldn't make my mum raging. After my third year I took a trip to America with the intention of maybe doing some intern work, meeting some people, getting a foot in the door for something more long term when I was done with uni, I wanted to do something drastic. After spending some time in Seattle and Austin I came home to find this old dilapidated unit up for sale in a great spot I walked past all the time. It needed to be destroyed, forget cleaned. I quit uni and me and my dad spent 3 months cleaning and fixing and whatever. I've always bought vinyl but I've never really been a vinyl nerd, I just love that I get to base my working life around recommending music, it's what I do with my free time anyway. I also get to come in every day to likeminded customers and colleagues and our entire day is based around promoting art. It's kind of an intense experience to know that our success in any given week can be based on how good the art that gets put out on the Friday is and how well we can share it..."
